Comments: Should a governor have the authority to overrule WGF on feeding grounds?

This trend in northern Rocky Mtn states giving Governors authority over the state biologists and scientific community is ignoring current knowledge of the disease spread and consequences.

Ranchers have destroyed the winter range.

Wyoming Game and Fish also recently documented a huge spike in bacterial diseases commonly called hoof rot (<https://wyofile.com/historic-die-off-at-wyoming-elk-feedground-prompts-management-changes/>) on one feedground, also in response to winter conditions and elk numbers.

Shut down the feedlots and work with ranchers to fence their hay storage.

WY needs to start prioritizing coexisting with our wildlife and rewilding is key.

When the facts change we must change with them.

Thank you.
