

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/18/2024 11:16:00 PM

First name: Anon

Last name: Anon

Organization:

Title:

Comments: As someone who has worked in habitat repair and forestry I would encourage you to consider the scale at which rock climbing impacts forests and scenic beauty. For every cliff that has anchors and bolts there are many many more which will never be developed by climbers due to poor quality rock or other risk factors. If we restrict rock climbing which activity will be under fire next? Hiking? Trail construction? Remember: this land was made for you and me.