Comments: I overall support the proposed spirit of the regulations, however I am concerned about a number of items:

- 1) Lack of resources for additional management: I am concerned that there is a lack funding and resources available to competently administer the described regulations

- 2) Additional red tape: While I appreciate the desire for more oversight and share the desire to limit anchors to only where necessary, I am concerned that the red tape and bureaucratic processes will limit and add undue friction to the climbing community's enjoyment and use of our public lands for recreation

- 3) Enforceability: I am unsure how any of these regulations will be enforced and would love to see more consideration put into this.
