Comments: Destroying the habitat of wildlife will never assist man in any fashion. It will only serve to segregate digester that is essential to man's wellbeing and need for plant and forestry survival. Wildlife is already having to cohabitation with us, this is why - they must exist for their own survival. They are fighting for their survival - greed, and carelessness is taking it away.

There is enough available mountain- already for man to climb without festering anymore for recreation. It's fruitless and leads to greater devastation for man and wild life. ALL LIFE is important. All Life matters. All Life best survival is within their own habitation.

Do what's right

Generations will thank you.
