Comments: I bought some land in fall Creek Oregon in 1989. The previous owners had bought it in 1959. They and I did not cut the Forest the comprised half of the acreage. We were very different people yet we had this one thing in common: we wanted the Trees to be there. Since then I have watched many trees disappear to the logging companies at one point I thought of putting a giant canvas over my remaining trees so that people could not enjoy my trees when they cut all theirs down. I hate to think of the herbicides and pesticides that wash down the hill on my property into the creek that I have water rights to and into the main water system of this area and beyond. We are ruining our environment so that some people can profit but they are affecting us all and especially the futures of our grand children which I now have who will never see what a beautiful untouched forest looks like - what piece it can bring to our bodies in our minds instead now have Bare hills and fouled water and air. You have the ability to change the policies that allow this to continue happening it is a big job and will take a lot of courage and thought about our environment now and in the future. I believe we all know what a clearcoat looks like so I'm not going to attach any files
