Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/24/2024 6:05:54 AM First name: Donald Last name: Hickman Organization: Title:

Comments: Permitting fixed anchors in the wilderness is contrary to the intent of the Wilderness Act and therefore I don't think that they should be permitted. Chocks and nuts that don't leave evidence behind should be all a climber needs. If they need a fixed anchor they can go to a non wilderness area. Leave the wilderness as wilderness.