Comments: I don't like fixed anchor bolts because they represent carelessness for Mother Nature and pain to Mother Nature. If one is in a life and death situation and needs to climb to escape, then I can see the rocks forgiving us for putting in bolts. But for recreation, there should be strict limits and approved routes to preserve the pristine beauty of the mountains. Of course, Nature wants us to enjoy, but if everyone is putting anchors without restrictions, we're going to ruin the beauty of the mountains with symbols of selfishness. Thank you for considering my views.
