Comments: To Whom It May Concern,

I strongly oppose the U.S. Forest Service from allowing fixed anchors or fixed anchor equipment within public lands.

Allowing fixed anchors and/or equipment gives one group (rock climbers) preference of public land use over all other groups. If this were allowed, why couldn't hunters then install blinds, stands/scaffolding and just leave them also?

This should not be allowed, as public lands are for all groups, interests, activities, etc...

Thank you.
