Comments: To develop a nature-gap analysis of the Old and Mature Growth Tree Inventory to determine where forest conservation can create access to nature for frontline communities and communities of color. This action will advance Justice40 above and beyond current projected measures.

To prioritize old and mature growth conservation measures in and near underserved and nature-deprived communities.

To develop the strongest measures possible for conserving old trees for all future generations.

To develop measures for mature forests to flourish; these younger stands will become the next generation's complex and invaluable old growth.

To prioritize structural hardening rather than forest thinning to protect communities from wildfire threats by supporting measures for property owners to update building infrastructure and landscaping that will prevent structural ignition
