Comments: Fixed anchors and bolts are essential to America's rock climbing. Not only would banning these in areas around the U.S. be detrimental to America's rich rock climbing culture and history, but it would also be an enormous safety hazard for the U.S citizens and tourists who travel from all over the world to climb in some of the most beautiful lands in the world. Climbing is a huge part of my life and I have always felt so lucky to be in a country that has so much to offer when it comes to climbing. Please do not take this away from us and let us enjoy our public lands.
