Comments: This climbing community is a amazing community they love the out doors and want others to see the beauty of it, please work with them, while there is not a head of the "climbing community" it is a very passionate group of people, please don't deal this blow to one of the biggest communal ally's you have.

Restricting the establishment of new routes to "existing climbing opportunities" on non-Wilderness lands is unenforceable and will create confusion amongst land managers and climbers. Non-Wilderness climbing management policy should maintain opportunities for new anchors unless and until analyses determine climbing should be restricted to protect cultural and natural resources.
