

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/29/2024 4:39:02 PM

First name: ANDREW

Last name: SELL

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Limiting the creation of new climbing routes to "existing climbing opportunities" outside of Wilderness areas is impractical and will lead to confusion among both land managers and climbers. Non-wilderness climbing management policies should continue to allow for the development of new anchors unless and until thorough analyses determine that climbing should be restricted to safeguard cultural and natural resources.