Comments: Please reconsider reclassifying fixed anchors for rock climbing as prohibited installations. National Parks and other outdoor recreational areas are meant to be used and experienced and fixed anchors not only help rock climbers to get out and use these outdoor areas, but they keep us SAFE. Numerous rock climbing associations and communities (the Salt Lake Climbers Alliance is one I'm most familiar with) take extensive measures to ensure these anchors are updated carefully and are low impact, while also ensuring they keep climbers safe. Please allow us to keep using these so climbers around the world can continue to travel and enjoy our natural wilderness in the safest way.
