Comments: Good afternoon! I oppose the removal of climbing anchors and bolts. I've been in situations where I've helped assist search and rescue to retrieve hikers on the mountain and the bolts and anchors was a wonderful safety net for that. Building anchors takes time and skills that frankly a lot of people do not possess. People will always climb. Bolts and anchors ensure safety to current and future climbers.

If there is a removal, I'd hope it would be equal across the board in removing the chains and bolted lines for hikers.

Thank you,

Suzanne
