Comments: I live in a state whose ecosystem relies on mature and old-growth forests! it's unacceptable that in the 21st century with all the knowledge you have thanks to the botanist community on why old diverse forests are important to our nation's ecology, I have has an American demand, no I expect the USFS to listen to experts who say we can't do clear-cutting anymore of forests on public lands, and stop not only logging of old growth forests, but mature forests or secondary forests as well! Environmentalists, Wildlife Conservationists, and Native American Activists have been calling for this reform for over 20 plus years! do the right thing, and end outdated, unsustainable logging on America's public lands!!!
