Comments: Comments:As a rock climber, the bolt prohibition would deter me from visiting USPS parks in the future. I would have to find other venues to recreate, that is unfortunate as I know I am not the only one and that this may have a negative impact on the local communities relying on tourism income.

As a Guide, I would also be forced to develop products in safer, more welcoming destinations. Which means a further impact from my customers lost spending would also occur.

All in all, I do not believe anybody wins from the proposed prohibition.
