Comments: Any intrusion in the forest -- a clearing, a path, a structure however small -- causes a tremendous disruption in the ecosystem; far more than most of us can imagine. But of course, the Forest Service knows.

Outfitters are out for the money. Their customers don't know or don't care what their presence does to wildlife and the forest itself.

A "wilderness" should stay wild. Not everything under the sun is here for human use and amusement. Please, Forest Service, do your job and let the wilderness be wild. No permits for trash.
