Comments: Prohibiting bolt restoration and implementation would hinder climbing experience while also putting climbers at more risk. Fixed anchors allow climbers to protect themselves on climbs that may not be climbable without them. In addition to helping keep climbers impact to a minimal at the top of climbs. Without fixed anchors to set up climbs this increases climbers usage of natural resources to create anchors. Climbing is a way to experience these amazing parks and impacts climbers' mental health, emotional, and physical health in a positive way. Putting a prohibition on bolting would take this amazing resource and outdoor activity away from many people.
