Comments: Please, please don't prohibit bolted anchors in wilderness areas.

The use of routes that incorporate fixed anchors has created deep connections with the natural world and a drive for conservation for myself and my community. Without these routes we would have never seen many these wilderness areas or likely had much reason to care about them.

Now that wilderness conservation is an important part of my life the destructive pressure of large scale human impacts like climate change, grazing, logging, fire suppression are made so much more obviously visible urgent.

Climbing helped get me there, please don't prohibit fixed anchors.
