Comments: Outfitters need to be reminded that this IS The Bob Marshall Wilderness...not their Wilderness , one that they can adapt to fit their own individual needs.
Therefore we need the application of strict Wilderness guidelines (a place where man is just a visitor and leaves no permanent mark) to preclude the loss of the wilderness character.
This brings us to the subject of commodification of the wilderness...a process whereby we incrementally lose the true unaltered character of wilderness...the intrinsic values...the irreplaceable values.
