Comments: Hello,

I think it would be a travesty to prevent maintenance to these climbing areas in some of the most beautiful places on Earth. Climbing is a beautiful sport that gets new people into the outdoors, and preventing newcomers to the sport from accessing these areas in the future would be an absolute travesty. My brother recently found the sport and it changed his life, and the idea that he might be prevented from or even worse hurt by a non-maintained route because of this act is heartbreaking. Please reconsider the bolt prohibition.

Cheers,

Jack Kleist
