

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/30/2024 8:54:40 PM

First name: Jan

Last name: Ellis

Organization:

Title:

Comments: It seems to me that 62 permits with large groups is not a great idea. I had friends who packed in the Bob and they took only small parties with them. They ranched in the area and were very familiar with the area and careful with the land. At the time I don't think there were more than around 30 outfitters that took groups of 4 to 6 people.

It would be a good idea to give people time to assess the process and you should be very clear on the details. That way people won't get their backs up.

I don't think that small corals and tent frames in limited numbers are a problem. Many have been there for decades. Thanks Jan