Comments: There are a series of acts coming together from the U.S. federal and state parks that have roots in the 1964 Wilderness Act. This act covers 800 federally designated wilderness areas, including 112 million acres in the U.S., and states, "There shall be no temporary road, no use of motor vehicles, motorized equipment or motorboats, no landing of aircraft, no other form of mechanical transport, and no structures or installation within any such area(s)."

Bolts and other fixed gear are being viewed as "installation," which have long been accepted but are now being challenged. This hobby does not effect areas like 4x4 and biking you cant see anchors and they can even be camouflaged. this is wrong and will ruin a long history of climbing and adventure in this fine country.

Please do pass these acts and [please remove bolts and anchors from the same classification as road which ruins everything in its way. A bolt does not harm anyone in the wildnress and there experiance or the delicate nature around it.
