Comments: I believe that along with planting 3 Million trees we should stop cutting down the ones we already have. I also believe we need to stop people from cutting down healthy trees on their properties and if they cut down a sick tree that a equivalent tree be planted to replace it.

Old growth forests are important to climate and the millions of creatures that inhabit them. As good stewards we are responsible for the welfare and well-being of all the life we share this planet with.

We have to start trying to reverse the damage we've done and maybe just maybe we'll be successful and leave this place better than we found it.

Thank you,

Angela Giordano
