Comments: Hello,

From the bottom of my heart I urge you to protect the remaining old-growth trees in our area. All of our forests, but especially these old-growth trees are too precious to hold back resources from. Please use prescribed burning and any other techniques that can help them survive increasing wildfire danger. The trees are so crucial for helping reduce CO2 and providing habitat for countless species. Human beings are going to need more than ever, as wild areas are lost, to be able to rejuvenate in the forests and find solace in the continuity of nature, and of life. Please work with native people to establish cooperation and best practices. Humanity and the rest of the natural world need these forests! Thank you.
