Comments: Hello, by disallowing new or replacement bolts, people will incur more risk, and ultimately get hurt or die as a result of this policy. By not allowing bolts or other fixed anchors, climbers will have to acquire additional gear (which may have to be left behind if it gets stuck, or in an emergency) and it may be used incorrectly. Worse, climbers may end up skipping the protection all together. At the very least, this policy will discourage the use and exploration of our Wilderness areas. Anchors are very unobtrusive pieces of gear to provide such safety.
