Comments: Bolts and other fixed anchors should not be banned. I am not a frequent rock climber though I still believe that we should not ban the use and installation of fixed anchors and safety equipment for rock climbers. I feel that fixed anchors are akin to the many hiking trails that hikers enjoy throughout the many parks in our nation. Anchors like trails provide a safe path for people to follow. I think by banning fixed anchors you will alienate a large amount of the people that enter the parks and will also make rock climbing as a whole more dangerous by eliminating a crucial piece of safety equipment.
