Comments: Fixed anchors are an important part of equitable access to the outdoors. I cannot afford to buy a whole rack of trad climbing gear necessary to climb safely on short routes, let alone longer ones, but I am able to afford the smaller amount of gear required for sport routes.

Sport climbing, made possible by fixed anchors, is almost everyone's entry point to climbing outdoors. Taking this away will be a blow to the vibrant climbing community in America and will make climbing only available to the most wealthy.
