Comments: I believe that the USFS should work with organizations like Access Fund to help come up with policies that aren't going to strain relationships between climbers, staff, and land managers. Setting up areas that are safe for people to climb and respects the land is important, but if it is done in opposition instead of corporation then history will repeat itself and people will climb secretly and in unsafe ways.

I really love this sport and I also love the organizations that steward the land we all enjoy. Please work with us to make a better system for everyone.
