Comments: To Whom It May Concern:

I just want to add my support of Forests Forever and other conservation and environmental groups that are trying to help with climate change issues and with the preservation of our forests, which are essential to maintaining a healthy atmosphere in which both people and wildlife can survive.

There is so much information out there to show the benefits of maintaining our forests for the health of our planet. It is hard for a thinking or caring person to imagine that ANYONE or ANY government agency would promote the destruction of such a vital part of our own ecosystem. Any attempts to tear down our old growth forests is a direct assault on our very existence on this planet. Get real and stop this madness! Profit for the wealthy be DAMED! if that is the "excuse" being given. What good is all the wealthy's money going to be on a planet where we cannot breathe the air because we have destroyed the very flora and fauna that keeps the earth alive and healthy. It is insanity to even consider this, and I personally consider it a crime against humanity and the planet.

Thank you for listening.
