Comments: I am in whole-hearted support of the efforts of the US Forest Services and other biological organizations to maintain and preserve the wellbeing of the old growth forests around our country. Should they ever need the hands-on support of the public, I will always be there to help.

On a separate but related note, I would like to have a redwood tree in Muir Woods National Monument of Mill Valley, CA, named after me for my endless love of those trees and my tireless work and commitment to the preservation of old growths.
