Comments: Dear Sir,

In my opinion, nature takes care of itself very well. It's been doing it for far longer than mankind has been here. The idea that we can manage anything better than the plan the creator put in place is ludicrous. Leave our forests alone. They'll be fine. The end results of your plans are always an ugly mess for years until nature, as it always does, repairs itself. The forest don't need your help.

Thank you,
