

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 2/1/2024 3:22:03 PM

First name: Adrienne

Last name: Doherty

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Greetings,

It is becoming increasingly obvious that the U S Forest Service's theories and methods for maintaining healthy forest ecosystems has been a dismal failure.

It appears as if the objective is to destabilize those ecosystems and wipe them out entirely.

Forest service policy flies in the face of most scholarly thinking regarding forest ecosystems. The service is doing irreparable damage by blundering into to forest ecosystems with a catastrophic knowledge deficit and little circumspection.

One must ask;

Is it just remarkably stupid staffing? Or is the US Forest Service now working for large corporations?

As it now appears, it is not for the forest ecosystems that taxpayers and voters pay it to steward.