Comments: I am not quite sure I understand: Are you saying that the old growth forest should be destroyed? If so what about the wild life that lives there? I don't think it is fair to destroy their home. I have noticed unwanted species of growth near wooded areas. Whatever is going to be done I think wildlife animals interests should come first and they should be rescued, rehomed or in preservation. I feel whatever is going to be done with old growth forests it needs to be done for the safety of our environment and wildlife. Also new forests should be started.
