Comments: Good that the dangerous effects of climate change are being significantly considered throughout this report. But climate change has continued to surprise us and always with even more complicated, costly and excruciating problems. In light of this, I suggest that the budget for the "solutions" that are developed in this study be increased substantially; that more trees are preserved; that less building in wilderness areas is permitted, etc. etc. I believe we need to do what seems like "over-protecting" if we are going to maintain the life that we know and love on this planet. Thank you.
