I would like to go on record as a strong proponent of the conservation measures under consideration.

We live in a twelve acre forest and when I walk from our land into the clear cut adjacent to us I feel the temperature rise no matter what time of year.

We can watch the rain falling from the trees for days after a heavy rain. The water that falls in the clear cut runs off and evaporates much quicker.

Glaciers are melting in the Cascades due in part to the rising temperatures from the clear cuts below.

We know so little about the ecosystem of a mature forest. A wealth of information that can guide our efforts to live in harmony with the natural world.
