Comments: This project clearly aligns with the future development plans of Brundage Mountain Resort. Snowmobiler activity in no way hinders landscape restoration efforts to the Granite mountain cat ski area nor does it worsen the departure from a natural fire return interval. If the Payette National Forest is going to restore forest conditions in the Goose lake, Granite Mountain, Bally Mountain, and Twin Lakes region they should do so by mitigating the natural fire regime which was present before the Forest Service implemented extensive suppression of naturally occurring wildfire. I object to the Granite Goose Landscape Restoration Project.
