Dear Forest Service:

Thank you for accepting this scoping comment.

I hope you consider taking actions that support the law of nature rather than the emotions of people. Nature has operated successfully far longer than man has been in existence with a few "laws" that seem to be totally ignored in your current plan.

1. Survival of the fittest. Quit wasting time & huge dollars to save species when in many cases we don't even know if this species has very recently emerged or not. It may even be an uncompetitive newcomer from a recent mutation.

2. Erosion is critical to a changing and improving environment. We would be stuck with a Mars type landscape without it. Deep soils in the valleys come from slides, dirt in rivers and periodic flooding.

Your attempts at stopping or reversing what nature decrees will not be successful or even desirable for our future or the forest's future.

Sincerely,

Bob Case
