Comments: We fully support this for many reasons. The forests are not safe now do to the lack of good sound forest management. Each wind storm causes large amounts of dead trees to the fall plugging the forest and roads, in many cases blocking travel routes for many forest users. Following a dry winter such as this year the threat of large uncontrolled forest fires is real, wile fire may be the only way to remediate the dire conditions of the forest, trying to control the fire under these conditions will prove daunting. Please do not wait any longer, begin the healing process for our forests.
