

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 3/8/2024 3:56:31 PM

First name: Cammy

Last name: C

Organization:

Title:

Comments: The goal of wilderness is to leave it wilderness, hence the cabins were never meant to persist.

Cabins don't belong in designated Wilderness. The U.S. Forest Service must leave its policy unchanged and phase out ANILCA cabins, as was the original intent. To change this policy would undermine ANILCA and the Wilderness Act.