Comments: I am concerned how the proposed changes to permitting cabins will harm the intended wilderness values of these areas. I encourage the USFS to continue with the original intent and continue to permit cabins to the original owner, and then to terminate the permit when that person dies. These cabins were never intended to be permanent structures and should be managed with an end-date in mind.

The permits should not continue in perpetuity. I encourage you to phase out the ANILCA cabins and let the cabins decay or be removed. Allowing the cabins to be used in perpetuity would be contrary to the original intent and would go against ANILCA and the Wilderness Act.
