

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 3/8/2024 4:48:35 PM

First name: Michael

Last name: Herzog

Organization:

Title:

Comments: I am sick and tired of repeated efforts to dilute the original intent of the Wilderness Act. Cabins don't belong in designated Wilderness. The U.S. Forest Service must leave its policy unchanged and phase out ANILCA cabins, as was the original intent. These cabins were never meant to persist in Wilderness, and to change this policy would undermine ANILCA and the Wilderness Act.