Comments: The purpose of ANILCA is to preserve and protect nationally significant public lands, with some areas designated as Wilderness. I understand that at that time there were unauthorized cabins that had been constructed in these areas, and that in 1987 the Forest Service issued renewable permits for these cabins, specifying that they would, however, expire at the owner's death. That is, the intention was to phase these cabins out. This is appropriate--cabins do not belong in Wilderness at all, and private cabins should not continue to be supported on public lands.

I therefore OPPOSE your proposal to remove restrictions on these permits. Please continue the original intent--phase these cabins out as owners die. Do NOT allow ongoing renewal or transfer to other persons.

Thank you.
