

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 3/8/2024 4:57:28 PM

First name: Margaret

Last name: Schulenberg

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Cabins do not belong in the wilderness.

Illegally built cabins especially do not belong in the wilderness.

The Forest Service was especially generous in not destroying those illegally built cabins during the lifetimes of their original claimants.

But these cabins must not be allowed to persist indefinitely.

Retain the original rules for ANICLA cabins: renewable every five years and nontransferable, terminating upon the death of the last immediate family member of the original claimant.