Comments: Your decisions matter for humanity's future on our necessary and beautiful planet. It's NOT all about US ! Humans need to learn to LEAVE places ALONE and to value "inanimate" places and natural features (eg rivers) and ALL other BEINGS for their own sake, not to be manipulated or saved because of what difference it makes to humans' "benefit" although the overall benefit is a HEALTHY planet of fully functional ecosystems that is naturally ALSO good for us.

Our conception and designation of "wilderness" is a step in this HOLISTIC direction.

Cabins don't belong in designated Wilderness. The U.S. Forest Service must leave its policy unchanged and phase out ANILCA cabins, as was the original intent. These cabins were never meant to persist in Wilderness, and to change this policy would undermine ANILCA and the Wilderness Act.
