

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 3/8/2024 7:23:03 PM

First name: Kristin

Last name: Culp

Organization:

Title:

Comments: There's a reason the policy was established in the first place. Cabins don't belong in designated Wilderness. The U.S. Forest Service must leave its policy unchanged and phase out ANILCA cabins, as was the original intent. These cabins were never meant to persist in Wilderness, and to change this policy would undermine ANILCA and the Wilderness Act!