Comments: Dear Stewards of our beautiful forests and wilderness,

Cabins don't belong in designated Wilderness. The U.S. Forest Service must leave its policy unchanged and phase out ANILCA cabins, as was the original intent. These cabins were never meant to persist in Wilderness, and to change this policy would undermine ANILCA and the Wilderness Act.

Please work to keep the wilderness wild by not allowing anyone to live in them. Please phase out these cabins to protect these lands. Our planet is depending on it.
