

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 3/8/2024 7:25:30 PM

First name: Erik

Last name: Roth

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Cabins do not belong in areas designated as Wilderness. The U.S. Forest Service must leave its policy unchanged and phase out ANILCA cabins, according to the original intent. The intent was to phase out these cabins, nowhere more important than in Wilderness, which is managed for its wildness. These cabins were never meant to persist in Wilderness, and to change this policy would undermine the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act and the Wilderness Act.