

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 3/8/2024 7:49:46 PM

First name: Moira

Last name: Ashleigh

Organization:

Title:

Comments: It is not okay to backtrack on decisions. Cabins don't belong in designated Wilderness. The U.S. Forest Service must leave its policy unchanged and phase out ANILCA cabins, as was the original intent. These cabins were never meant to persist in Wilderness, and to change this policy would undermine ANILCA and the Wilderness Act.