Comments: The area referenced herein is a designated Wilderness! There is no place in a designated Wilderness for cabins of any kind! Cabins don't belong in designated Wilderness! The clear Congressional explication of the Wilderness Act does not include the installation and use of cabins!

The U.S. Forest Service must leave its policy unchanged and phase out ANILCA cabins, as was the original intent. These cabins were never meant to persist in Wilderness, and to change this policy would undermine ANILCA and the Wilderness Act! Thank you!
